A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

Things have changed since I did this last. The tools are much more powerful and it seems that it should be easier. The problem is that now there are so many more options and so much to learn that it seems to take longer. Getting older doesn't help, either.

First, I would like to thank Becky for all the effort she put into it over the last several years. It really does take a lot of effort to put together an issue.

On that note, I would appreciate some help. First I need articles. Tina has been writing most of the articles and doing an excellent job but I don't want to burn her out.

I would also appreciate help with printing, folding, stapling and mailing.
